

APPENDIX III

RESUMES OF KEY PROJECT PERSONNEL

Kathryn M. Kuranda, M. Arch.Hist., Vice-President - Architectural Services, directs the architectural history and history programs of R. Christopher Goodwin & Associates, Inc. Ms. Kuranda holds a Bachelor of Arts degree in American Studies from Dickinson College and a Master of Architectural History degree from the University of Virginia, where she was a Thomas Jefferson Fellow. Ms. Kuranda's professional qualifications exceed those established by the Secretary of the Interior in the field of architectural history. She is a court-qualified architectural historian.

Prior to joining Goodwin & Associates, Inc., Ms. Kuranda served as the architectural historian with the Nevada State Historic Preservation Office, where she coordinated the state's program for built resources, and as Architectural Historian with the Bureau of Reclamation at their headquarters office in Denver. Since joining Goodwin & Associates, Inc. as a Senior Project Manager in 1989, Ms. Kuranda has served as Principal Investigator on numerous architectural identification, evaluation, planning, and management projects, both in the Washington, D.C. Metropolitan area and across the nation.

Architectural survey projects have ranged from single building evaluations to state- and nation-wide multiple-resource efforts. She has directed the development of nationwide historic contexts for the evaluation of Department of Defense resources constructed between 1790 and 1940, the Navy Guided Missile Program, World War II Permanent Military Construction, Army Fixed Wing Air Fields, and Army Housing Constructed under the Capehart, Wherry, and MCA Programs during the Cold War Era. She has directed architectural historical investigations at over 140 military installations, from Alaska to Florida, and from New England to the West Coast, as well as in Iceland and Puerto Rico. Level I and II HABS/HAER projects have included the recordation of eight industrial complexes on the site of Oriole Park at Camden Yards, Baltimore; 3 buildings on the site of the Maryland Library for the Blind and Physically Handicapped, Baltimore; the Kelly Springfield Tire Company, Cumberland, Maryland; Canal Street Car Barns in New Orleans; and, the Caryville Bridge, Florida. Recent bridge experience includes the Harford Road Bridge, Baltimore, Maryland. Preservation planning studies include Cultural Resource Management Plans for the Walter Reed Army Medical Center, Washington, D.C.; Langley Air Force Base, Langley, Virginia; and the Washington Aqueduct System, which included revisions to the NHL documentation. Ms. Kuranda also has experience in local preservation planning issues and has provided historic preservation expertise for such projects as the rehabilitation of the Francis Scott Key Hotel, Frederick County, Maryland; St. Timothy's School, Baltimore County, Maryland; and Brown's Tavern, in Prince George's County, Maryland.

Mr. Benjamin Riggle, historian, received his M.A. in American History with a concentration in Historic Preservation from the University of North Carolina-Greensboro in 2006. Since joining the firm of Goodwin & Associates, Inc., he has been an active participant in several projects. He has conducted field survey on a proposed cell tower location in Saxonburg, PA, to document the potential visual effects on Saxonburg's National Register listed historic district. He also performed research on the historic context of American ammunition production and storage during the Cold War era, including a site visit to Radford Army Ammunition Plant located in Radford, VA. He has also conducted background archival research for Phase I archeological investigations in Maryland, and prepared architectural documentation for submission to the Wisconsin SHPO.

Prior to joining Goodwin & Associates, Inc., Mr. Riggle gained valuable historic preservation experience by working as an intern with the Historic Resources Commission of Winston-Salem, North Carolina, prior to the completion of his M.A. degree. While completing his B.A. degree in history with a minor in business management from Kent State University in Ohio, he worked an internship at the Professional Football Hall of Fame in Canton, Ohio, which helped provide him with hands on knowledge and experience with museums, archives, and public interpretations and exhibits.

Ms. Jennifer L. Evans received her B.A. from Millersville University in Lancaster, Pennsylvania. In December of 1998, she graduated Cum Laude with a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Anthropology/Archaeology. Her undergraduate experience included the completion of a Departmental Honors Thesis involving the interpretation of special patterning at a late nineteenth/early twentieth century rural farmstead. In May of 2008, Ms. Evans received her M.A. in American Studies from Pennsylvania State University, Capital College in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania. Her thesis, titled “Accusation and Redemption: Gettysburg in the Aftermath of the Battle” examined primary documentary sources, including newspaper archives, in an examination of the accusations of disloyalty leveled at the people of Gettysburg in the immediate aftermath of the Battle of Gettysburg.

Since joining R. Christopher Goodwin & Associates, Inc. in 2001, Ms. Evans has worked on a variety of archeological projects including Phase I excavations in Ohio, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, New York, West Virginia, Virginia, North Carolina, the U.S. Virgin Islands, and the Bahamas. She also has worked on Phase II and Phase III excavations in Ohio, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, and the U.S. Virgin Islands. She has worked extensively on both historic and prehistoric sites and materials.

Ms. Evans has contributed to many of the technical reports published in the company. Since completing her M.A. in 2008, Ms. Evans has participated in archival research and assisted in architectural surveys.

Ms. Melissa Crosby received a Bachelor of Arts (2005) in History from Shepherd University and a Master of Arts (2006) in Historic Preservation from Savannah College of Art and Design. Her college experiences include the completion of three National Register nominations and a thesis involving building documentation and research for an assessment of industrial influence on a mid-eighteenth century town through its development into the mid-twentieth century.

Ms. Crosby's experience includes working as an assistant researcher for the Shepherdstown historian in West Virginia. She also worked for the National Park Service as a park guide and contributed to the development of educational programs and informational park packets. Since joining R. Christopher Goodwin & Associates Inc. in 2008, Ms. Crosby has participated in field surveys, research, and in the preparation of various technical reports.
